BCC Plans to Add Two New Programs

Travel/Tourism, Communications Await Approval

Broome Community College plans to add two new degree-granting programs this fall to expand its educational opportunities to the community. One is Travel and Tourism, the other Communications and Media Arts to bring the number of degree curricula to 31.

Both of these programs are ready to be offered, with the college Board of Trustees having already appoved them. Formal approval of the State University of New York, which supervises BCC's academic offerings, and the State Education Department, with which all BCC programs are registered, is expected shortly.

If approved in time, Travel and Tourism will be offered this fall. Communications and Media Arts will be started in the Spring 1986 Semester.

The Travel and Tourism curriculum will lead to the Associate in Applied Science degree and is designed to prepare graduates for immediate employment in the travel field, with some opportunities for transfer to four-year colleges. The Business Department will be responsible for the curriculum.

Use of the computer, marketing techniques and advanced practices in planning travel are among the skills to be taught. Students will also study a number of non-business courses in the general education field, reflecting the college's philosophy to broaden the education offered.

The Communications and Media Arts program will have the double objective of enabling graduates to transfer to four-year colleges or to find employment as audio-visual technicians or coordinators, media sales representatives, or radio/TV production assistants, to name a few. The curriculum will lead to the Associate in Science degree and be given by the Liberal and General Studies Division.

There is considerable demand for qualified people in this field, and there is no other college in the area providing these services. More than 50 BCC students are enrolled in communications courses, despite the

Trend Toward Older Students Reaches Dental Hygiene Curriculum

By DR. FREDERICK JOHNSON
Chairman, Dental Hygiene Dept.

The trend for older students to enroll in college has reached the Dental Hygiene program at Broome Community College, as a majority of this fall's incoming class has had previous college experience, either at BCC or at another college.

Almost 25% of them have training or experience in dental assisting and a desire to move up the career ladder in the field. This contrasts most noticeably with the early years, when most of the Dental Hygiene students were recent high school graduates.

The BCC Dental Hygiene curriculum was started in 1956, and has had almost 800 graduates in the 30 years since then.

During those years there have been many changes. The remodeling of the James T. Ivory Dental Hygiene Clinic on the campus in 1978 and 1979 was probably the most significant. By modernizing and enlarging the clinic from 18 to 21 stations, the college has been able to accept more students in the curriculum.

It also enabled the college to teach its students to work from a "sit-down" position, instead of constantly standing on their feet. This improves the service to patients because the dental hygienist does not tire as much, as the work day wears on.

Since 1974 Dental Hygiene students at BCC have received additional "expanded function" training

'One in a Million' Buttons Free for Alumni

The special offer of the BCC "One in a Million SUNY Graduates" buttons that was offered to all 20,000 Broome Community College graduates in the last issue of the BCC NEWSLETTER is being renewed and made more attractive.

Instead of asking graduates to send $1 for the button to cover its cost and the mailing, the college and its Alumni Affairs Office have decided to offer these special memento buttons FREE.

After all, the purpose of making these attractive buttons available to graduates is to enable them to enjoy having them and not to worry about the nominal costs involved. They are yellow with black imprinting and were worn by the graduates during commencement.

A good number of graduates wrote in for them and sent their dollars. They have since received their buttons together with a refund of their money.

So we hope many more of you will write in for these buttons now—not only because they are free, but also because you may have needed another nudge to send that note to:

About the Alumni

John Aukema (BT-71) has begun his new duties as president of the First National Bank of Moravia in New York State. After graduation from BCC, he earned a baccalaureate degree at Bryant College.

James Poplawsky (LA-71) received his Doctor of Osteopathy degree this spring at the Texas College of Osteopathetic Medicine in Fort Worth.

Thomas Smith (LA-65) is a history professor at Nichols College in Dudley, Mass., and he has contributed a biographical essay for a forthcoming book entitled "Franklin D. Roosevelt, His Life and Times: An Encyclopedic View." The essay is on the life of FDR's New Deal budget director Lewis Douglas, whose public career was the subject of Smith's doctoral dissertation at the U of Connecticut.

Rae Temperton (LA-71) is a support communications officer with the American Embassy in Pretoria, South Africa.

Richard Boland (LA-77) has been promoted to assistant vice-president for diagnostic and therapeutic services with United Health Services locally.

Nicholas Timko (ES-67) received an IBM Corporate Award in San Diego recently for outstanding technical innovation relating to major inventions associated with the IBM 4381 computer cooling system. He is an advisory engineer at the IBM Laboratory in Endicott.

Former BCC basketball player Paul Valachovic (MT-57) is a 24-year veteran with the Singer-Link Co. He was recently named senior program manager in Air Force operations.

Also at Singer-Link, David Gdovin (ES-67) has been appointed to a senior program manager's position—of the F-16 production program, also in Air Force operations.

M. Conrad Sloat (BT-65) has been promoted to program administrator in the ESD Financial Analysis-Pricing organization of IBM in Austin, Texas. He and his wife, who have three children, would welcome a visit from any BCC-ers who happen to be in the area.

Cindy Parker (DH-76) has been elected president of the Northeast District Dental Hygienists Society, and she is busy with plans for her Oct. 5 wedding.

James Van Woert (BM-76) was recently appointed district sales manager for the Rochester area for Empire Airlines.

Patrick McManus (BT-74) has been named treasurer of the Raymond Corp.

James Brooker (BT-60) is now the commercial lending group manager at Chase Lincoln First Bank in Binghamton. He is a 25-year veteran with the bank.

Andrew Baranyk (LA-67) has been named an assistant vice-president of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith in Binghamton.

Francis Villante (ET-56) is now a senior technical staff member at IBM Endicott.

Anthony Dolhon (CT-82) has accepted a teaching fellowship at the University of Vermont in the Department of Structural Engineering. He is on leave of absence from EMJ—McFarland-Johnson Engineers in Binghamton.

Iris Resnick (BA-81) graduated "cum laude" from Randolph-Macon Women's College in Lynchburg, Virginia this spring. She recently exhibited her art work at the Maier Museum in Lynchburg, using the medium of pencil and graphite.

Karen Neville (RN-80) is now working in the emergency room at the Duke Medical Center after earning a BSN degree at the University of North Carolina.

Janet Cook (MO-68) is listed in the 1985 volume of "Outstanding Women in America." She was cited for her involvement in the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution, among other reasons.

Joan (Wolf) Clow (DH-63) has been elected chairwoman of the Broome County Bankers Association. She is an assistant vice-president at the Chase Lincoln First Bank in Binghamton, having worked there ever since her graduation fro BCC, although she completed the Dental Hygiene program.

James Foley (BT-69) is the regional vice-president of Citizens Savings Bank, and he was elected vice-chairman of the Broome County Bankers Association.

Alumni Re-elect NeJame President

Alan NeJame was re-elected president of the BCC Alumni Association, along with a couple of new officers—vice-president Andrea Fynboe and treasurer Mary Jane Westbrook. NeJame is a 1976 graduate in Liberal Arts, Andrea 1972 in Marketing and Mary Jane 1950 in Medical Assistant.

These officers will function on the Association's Board of Directors for this coming year, along with new directors Jim Haus (BT-72), John Kabanek (BT-70), Bob Richards (LA-70) and Susan Marca (BT-77).

The rest of the Board will consist of Mel Howe (BT-73 and LA-76), who was re-elected, and holdover members JoAnn Beston (LA-71), Ida Gialanella (LA-80) and B.J. Watson (BT-69).

One of the other highlights of the June 25 meeting of the Board was the passage of the largest budget in the association's history. The members authorized $20,000 for support projects, expanded special programs, and office expenses. Revenue from alumni dues and interest and dividends on investments have been projected to meet the expanded slate of activities.

Before it recessed for the summer the Board voted to approve an audit of the books after the budget year closes, and it reviewed the goals and objectives for the Alumni Affairs Office. Commenting on the Board's action, Director of Alumni Affairs Joe Flanagan said, "I'm happy to see the Board support the direction the alumni program has taken. Without their support it's doubtful that we could expand the travel, insurance and student programs."

The next Board meeting is scheduled for September. Various committees will meet over the summer to finalize plans for the fall.

Admissions Office Seeks Alumni Volunteers

Volunteers are being sought to assist the BCC Admissions Office with student recruitment in those areas of New York State outside the college's normal recruiting territory. Letters have been sent to alumni living in Westchester, Monroe and Erie Counties to ask them to serve as alumni/admission volunteers.

The volunteers will be asked to attend a training session at BCC in August. The all-day training session will update the alumni on the changes that have taken place at Broome since their graduation.

The volunteers will also be given information on what they can expect when they represent Broome at a "College Night" at one of their local high schools. Volunteers will be asked to make a maximum commitment of three evenings over a one-year period.

Commenting on the program, BCC Alumni Director Joe Flanagan said, "I think this is an excellent way alumni can help the college. With budget and staff limitations, this is the one way the Admissions Office can expand its efforts and involve the alumni."

Flanagan also indicated that the program's main purpose is to help the Admissions Office at those admission programs it would not normally reach.

The volunteers will be brought to the campus on a Saturday in August. Funding for this has tentatively been agreed to by the Alumni Association. A spokesperson for the Alumni group felt that this program is another indication of how the Association is committed to assisting the college with both its long and short-range goals.

to keep abreast of the duties now allowable under the New York State Dental Practice Act.

The Dental Hygienist, incidentally, is still the only auxiliary person in the dental field who is permitted by law to work inside a patient's mouth, an important distinction between the hygienist and the dental assistant.

The 1985-86 college year will introduce additional changes in the Science Building, which now houses only the Dental Hygiene clinics and Chemistry laboratories. A large addition to the building has begun and is scheduled for completion in 1986, resulting in additional chemistry labs, classrooms and a relocated and improved dental hygiene laboratory.

Finally, we in the Dental Hygiene Department are looking forward to the reunion of DH graduates on the campus in October. We view this as a good opportunity to renew acquaintances, show off our facilities, discuss developments in the field, and have a good time.

Dutch Alumnus Visitor

A surprise visitor from The Netherlands came to the BCC campus last month, and he enjoyed what he saw.

He is Marcel Van Rijt, a 1965 graduate from BCC who majored in Electrical Engineering Technology. He is a Dutch citizen, who transfered to RIT (Rochester Institute of Technology) after his two years at BCC.

He said the two degrees he received from BCC and RIT have made his skills "very marketable to American companies in The Netherlands." He currently works for Sperry there.

He and his wife Alie were vacationing by visiting the United States and Canada. Coming back to see BCC 20 years later was a natural thing for him to do on the trip, he said.

He said he enjoys receiving the BCC NEWSLETTER, and he and his wife were both impressed with the many building projects under way on the campus, according to BCC Alumni Affairs Director Joe Flanagan, who met them during their visit.

Curriculum Abbreviations

These abbreviations have been used in this issue to designate the curricula of study of the BCC graduates mentioned:

BA—Business Administration
BM—Marketing
BT—Business
CT—Civil Technology
DH—Dental Hygiene
ES—Engineering Science
ET—Electrical Technology
LA—Liberal Arts
MO—Medical Assistant
(was Medical Office Asst.)
MT—Mechanical Technology
RN—Nursing

Accessibility for Minorities Improved

Pres. Beattie Takes a Look Ahead In Talk to President's Round Table

Reprinted with permission from The Evening Press May 30, 1985

By HATTIE BERNSTEIN

A closer relationship between business and industry and Broome Community College would not only strengthen programs but also provide extra income for faculty whose salaries could be supplemented with consulting work, Donald W. Beattie, president of BCC told members of the school's Foundation and other guests yesterday at the annual President's Round Table Spring Luncheon.

The event was held at Holiday Inn-SUNY.

Beattie, who has served as president of the college for five years, urged guests to continue their financial support. "If the college is to improve the learning environment for students, and professional growth opportunities for faculty and staff," Beattie said, "operating funds and private donations will be needed."

The president suggested that the Foundation should expand its outlook—it now raises funds for scholarships—to include forging relationships with business and industry. "The Foundation will be asked to turn another corner and expand its mission to include fundraising for other than strictly grants-in-aid," Beattie said.

Beattie highlighted the accomplishments of his five-year tenure as college president: the highest number of graduates in any five-year period in BCC's history; increased enrollments, with a 50 percent increase during the last decade; national accreditations of all health sciences and engineering technologies; accreditation from the Middle States Association of Schools and Colleges.

Beattie said he "envisions" additional buildings on campus. A Community Education Building is expected to be built within the next five years, he said. In addition, two renovation projects—at the Electrical Engineering Technology Building and Titchener Hall-will be necessary, he said.

"If the college is to improve the learning environment for students, and professional growth opportunities for faculty and staff, operating funds and private donations will be needed," Beattie said. Those funds will have to be "over and above those now received," he added.

The proposed college budget, now before the Director of the Budget at the county legislature, is $16,900,000. Beattie said the school needs an additional $1 million a year for new equipment for the next five years.

"The county is responding very well," Beattie said. But its allocation of $500,000 to $600,000 is not enough to keep up with developments in technologies and program needs, he said.

"We're not talking dollars specifically but situations," Beattie said. He said a "mix of funding from a variety of sources—some grants, gifts and appropriations—will be necessary to meet current and future needs at BCC.

Decreasing high school enrollments will mean fewer traditional college students in the coming years, Beattie added. He said administrators understand the school will have to shift its focus, both in appealing to more non-traditional students and in working more closely with the business community. "I can see a considerable increase in non-credit offerings," Beattie said.

High Honor Graduates

The following members of the Class of 1985 graduated with "High Honors," which means that they had cumulative grade-point averages between 3.80 and 4.00 for all the courses they took at Broome Community College:

Accounting—Cathy Burgess, Evelyn Carlin, Mary Goga, Eileen Morrell, Krystyna Moseng, Helen Schier.

Business Administration—Christine Alt, Deborah Chambers, Joseph Colavito II, Stephen Guth, Allison Jarrold, Hope Martin, Theresa Murphy.

Chemical Technology—Anne Atkins, Pamela Hamzik, Kathleen Millard, Scott Williams.

Child Care—Rosemary Glassman, Christine Sullivan, Lora Young.

Civil Technology—James McDuffee.

Computer Studies—Richard Chalachan, Sondra Foreman, Barry Foster, Craig Houck, Sharon Knowles, Anne Merrill, Catherine Pudney, Tracy Sanguinito, Scott Sylvester, Margaret Ann Tomic.

Electrical Technology—Peter Skovira.

Engineering Science—Joseph Cleary, Mark Janecek, John Kozol, Jack McCreary, Jr., Edwin Mead, Dario Mucilli, Timothy Yacovoni.

Individual Studies—David Wolfe II.

Industrial Technology—Linda Olson.

Liberal Arts—Amy Boyce, Laura Brink, Laurey Christian, Kenneth Foster, Hope Grietzer, Suzanne James, Katherine Rosetta.

Marketing—Michael Bianco, Karen Bonzek, Mariah Buchsbaum, Peggy Cooke, Barbara Fifield, Mary Lewis, Michael Link, Elissa Pasternak, Sheila Sellars, Carol Stankevich.

Mechanical Technology—Thomas Nelson.

Medical Laboratory Technology—Maria Cuffaro.

Medical Record Technology—Gretchen Hodges, Hyo-Ja Kim, Patricia Massara.

Nursing—Dale Martenson.

Office Technologies—Mary Ann McLaughlin.

Paralegal Assistant—Judy Aasa, Maureen McMahon.

Radiologic Technology—Carl Zeshonski.

Tool & Die Making—Lee Ormsby.

All-Academic

Sharon Knowles not only distinguished herself on the softball field and volleyball court for the Hornets this past year, but she was also outstanding in the classroom.

As a result, she was named to the Women's Academic All-America Region 3 first team. She compiled a 3.89 cumulative grade-point average out of a possible 4.00.

Just as Broome Community College has improved its accessibility for disabled students (as noted in the last issue of the BCC NEWSLETTER), so too has the college made its programs more available for minority students.

Anyone who has not been on the campus for the last dozen or so years must surely notice during a 1985 visit that there are many more minority men and women in the student body.

In fact, the number of minority students has more than doubled since 1978, according to Westley Van Dunk, director of BCC's Educational Opportunity Program (EOP).

"One of the reasons we have more minority students today," Van Dunk said, "is that some of the economic fields are opening up for qualified minorities. Preparation for these fields at BCC can help Blacks, Asians and Hispanics get a job after graduation."

Van Dunk's latest statistics from the EOP Office show that there were 62 Blacks, 25 Asians and 12 Hispanics enrolled in the 1984-85 college year, along with 154 Whites or Caucasians.

"Disadvantaged" as defined under EOP is not limited to minority races. There are many Whites too, with older White women who are single and have dependent children a significant part of the program. Appropriate economic and academic levels disregard race or color considerations.

Efforts to support and attract minorities began in a formal way at BCC in the early 1970's, when a Special Services Counseling Center was established at the college under federal funding. SUNY Binghamton obtained a federal grant for this kind of counseling, and one of the provisions of the grant was to provide a special services counselor for students at BCC. Clarence (Bucky) McGill was that first counselor.

He was succeeded by Van Dunk in 1973 and then by George Archie in 1976. Two years later Van Dunk returned, when Archie left to move to California.

That was the year (1978) when the EOP started with state funding. Money was granted by the state directly to disadvantaged students as part of their financial aid packages, although it could not be used for tuition. Students put it to good use, however, for such necessary expenses as fees, books, transportation, as well as child care (when needed), room and board.

Tuition funds come mainly from the state's Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) and the federal Pell grants, which are also known as Basic Educational Opportunity Grants or BEOG.

These figures do not include the many international students from other lands that are currently enrolled—about 100 last year. The regulations and the criteria for the EOP are strictly for United States citizens, Van Dunk pointed out.

Record Number of 1,158 in Class of 1985

The Class of 1985 is the largest of all the 37 graduating classes in the 40-year history of Broome Community College, with 1,158 students receiving their associate degrees.

This total exceeds last year's previous high of 1,131, and it marks the fourth year in succession that BCC has graduated more than 1,000. The class, moreover, continues the growing diversity of the BCC student body, as there is an increasing number of older students, more than 100 students from 24 overseas lands enrolled at the college this year, and about 100 of the graduates earned their academic credits as part-time students in evening classes while they continued to work days.

Graduation again was a family affair, with husbands and wives graduating along with sons and daughters of past BCC graduates and of BCC faculty members.

The college's efforts to make its facilities more accessible for disabled students showed that it is succeeding, as there were graduates in wheelchairs, as well as some with hearing or visual impairments.

Of the 1,158 graduates, 69 of them did so with "high honors" and 140 "with honors."

Eight of the graduates earned two degrees:

Shari Day in Computer Science & Data Processing.

Susan Drabo in Liberal Arts & Business Administration.

John Kriz in Computer Science & Industrial Technology.

Kirsten Lunde in Computer Science & Business Administration.

Elizabeth May in Accounting/ Banking Emphasis & Business Administration.

Lisa Van Bramer in Data Processing & Business Administration.

Deborah Wahl in Data Processing & Business Administration.

Susan Wayson in Accounting/ Banking Emphasis & Business Administration.

college's currently limited offerings in this field.

Market research reveals that the introduction of this area of study is endorsed by such community agencies and businesses as radio and TV stations, advertising agencies, media departments of service industries, and communications media sales firms.

A heavy demand is also considered likely for evening courses among working adults.

Calendar

August 12—Orientation Session for Evening credit students, 7 p.m. in Titchener Hall.

August 19—Registration for returning day students, 9-4 in Student Center.

August 19—In-person registration for evening credit courses, 5:30 to 8 p.m. in Student Center.

Tallon Tells Graduates to Savor The Day, Accept Public Responsibility

Assemblyman James Tallon during his commencement address.

In his role as Broome Community College's graduation speaker this year, New York State Assemblyman James R. Tallon, Jr., supplied just the right amount of seriousness to supplement the joy and happiness of a college commencement.

He used a light touch, too, as he told the graduates that "I will not try to answer the age-old question of whether life tastes great or is less filling. I would, however, like to talk for a few moments on the notion of public responsibility."

He had already told the graduates how important it is for them to "enjoy the special purpose of the day, a special celebration of your accomplishment and your potential. Savor the moment by contemplating the hard work . . . . Savor the friendships which have been built among you."

He cited four principles that mark our government and our society—diversity, opportunity, equality of that opportunity, and effectiveness.

We as a nation revel in our diversity, he noted—a society of different ethnic roots and racial strains, different religious views and geographies, different economies and political preferences. "Your task," he told the graduates, "is to protect this enduring quality which makes us unique."

Regarding opportunity, he said that the government does not create new opportunity but it shapes the forces within which opportunity can develop. Private initiative must be encouraged, and the future will bring many changes.

"You will need to return once, twice, several times for formal renewal of your knowledge and skills. . . . We will require a fundamental redefinition of education as a life-long process."

By equality of opportunity, he warned of the risk of our becoming a two-class society. He recalled the conclusion 17 years ago of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders that "our nation is moving toward two societies, one Black, one White—separate and unequal."

"A new round of public responsibility must rededicate us to equality of opportunity," he said.

And fourthly, he stated, "when we undertake public initiatives, they must be effective. . . . We need to understand and to value hard work which must go into meeting our public agenda."

And in conclusion, he summarized his thoughts this way:

Class Gift to Purchase Baby Grand Piano

Erik Jensen was the member of the Class of 1985 at BCC who had the honor to make the announcement at graduation of the class gift—a check for $2,500 to be used for the purchase of a baby grand piano.

This will be most welcome to the Music Department, which is expanding its offerings for BCC students.

Other speakers at commencement included graduate James Williams, the Student Government Association President; BCC Board of Trustees Chairman James Bishop; BCC Vice-President of Academic Affairs Robert Messina; SUNY Confederation of Alumni Associations President Harold Hanson, in addition to Assemblyman James Tallon and BCC Alumnus James Carrigg.

BCC President Donald Beattie presided at the commencement.

Bishop touched on the highlights of the past academic year, and Messina gave a rundown on the characteristics of the Class of 1985. Hanson presented Carrigg with the Confederation's annual Distinguished Service Alumni Award.

The Binghamton Youth Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Bernard Shifrin, provided the music, and Teressa Buran and David McLoughlin were the faculty marshals.

Special BCC Foundation Report on 1984-85 Annual Fund Campaign

This special section is funded jointly by the BCC Alumni Association and the BCC Foundation

The Broome Community College Foundation has just entered its twentieth year of service to BCC and its students. The sole purpose of the Foundation is to raise private dollars to fund programs that cannot be funded with tax dollars, either because of the law or because public funds simply are insufficient. Such programs funded by the Foundation are: GRANTS-IN-AID for the neediest students, MERIT SCHOLARSHIPS for the best students, FACULTY DEVELOPMENT, SPECIAL PROJECTS for small capital needs, EMERGENCY LOANS and a small PRESIDENT'S DISCRETIONARY FUND. In nearly all cases, Foundation funds are used directly to help people. In all cases, this privae support provides a "margin of excellence" for BCC, setting it apart from its sister institutions that do not enjoy the direct monetary support of the private community.

General Education Regaining Importance

By GEORGE HIGGINBOTTOM
Dean, Liberal & General Studies

In recent years in colleges across the country, faculties have been launching major curriculum reforms aimed at re-introducing coherence to the post-secondary curriculum. This effort, which seeks to restore to higher education a sense of common endeavor, is termed "General Education."

General Education refers to learning which all students are to ideally acquire so that each can participate knowledgeably in intellectual discourse about social, political and moral issues which impinge upon their lives.

In contradistinction to the goal of vocational (or technical) education, which is to train one for employment, General Education's objective is to assist people to live thoughtful lives.

Its concern is with ideas: with enduring criteria of judgment—truth, goodness and beauty—and with the central concepts of civil society—justice, liberty and equality. In sum, General Education is to help people become more competent in their private and public transactions.

During the past year, nearly 50 faculty and administrators generated the first five of a series of implementation proposals of the General Education reform efforts at BCC. Proposals concerning Effective Communication, Global Perspective, Moral Reasoning, Civic Education, and Critical Thinking were adopted. Several implementation workshops involving 45 faculty members were recently concluded. Remaining proposals on Science and Technology and Health and Fitness are expected in the Fall Semester.

The curricular implementation model will employ principally, though not wholly, an "infusion" approach, wherein existing courses (where feasible) are to incorporate content and teaching techniques pertinent to the new General Education objectives.

The Implementation timetable calls for all curricular changes to be completed by Fall 1986. Professional development workshops and seminars will help faculty become conversant with new material, and summer mini-grants will assist them in making course modifications. Concurrent with curricular implementation will be a comprehensive assessment program designed to provide feedback on the effectiveness of the program.

It is the hope of all of us that by virtue of these changes, a more vital and effective educational community will emerge at BCC, and that each of our students will acquire the intellectual range, the sensibility, and the prudence required if one is to confront life's challenges wisely and morally.

Douglas Johnson Named Head of Fund Campaign

In preparation for its upcoming 1985-86 Annual Fund Campaign, the Broome Community College Foundation has selected Douglas R. Johnson as campaign chairman, according to Foundation President Frank G. Paul.

Selected to serve with Johnson as vice-chairpersons for the corporate and community friend portions of the campaign are Erwin W. Hausamann and Rabbi Jacob Hurwitz.

Johnson is a 1962 graduate of BCC and a director of the BCC Foundation, currently serving as treasurer. He is employed by Chase Lincoln First Bank as senior vice president and senior trust officer. Johnson has been a Foundation director for six years.

Hausamann has been a director of the Foundation since 1983 and has served as a team leader in the corporate portion of the Annual Fund Campaign for two years. He currently is chairman of the Special Projects Committee for the Foundation and is active in many community fund raising efforts, including the United Way and WSKG. He is employed at IBM Endicott.

Rabbi Hurwitz, a team leader in the Community Friend portion of the last two campaigns, has been a member and supporter of the Foundation for 12 years. Prior to his retirement from professional life in 1982, Rabbi Hurwitz served as Rabbi for the Temple Israel Synagogue in Binghamton for 34 years.

Douglas Johnson

Initial parts of this year's campaign will begin in September. PHONATHON '85 is scheduled for October, with the corporate and community friend portions of the campaign planned for November and December.

The BCC Foundation raises private funds from alumni, parents of current BCC students, faculty and staff, civic and professional organizations, corporations, private foundations and other people living in the area. It is this last category that is referred to as "community friends."

The funds raised are used to support programs at the College that are not funded with public dollars. These include grants-in-aid, scholarships, faculty development and small capital projects.

The Foundation is looking for volunteers to help with the upcoming campaign. Anyone interested in volunteering or learning more about the Foundation should call 607-771-5182. People interested in making contributions, should send their checks to the BCC Foundation, Box 1017, Binghamton, N.Y. 13902.

DH Reunion On Oct. 19

More than 200 Dental Hygiene alumni are expected on campus for the first Dental Hygiene reunion Oct. 19. A committee of Dental Hygiene students, alumni and faculty has been formed to plan and coordinate the event.

Current plans call for a nationally prominent speaker and a series of workshops. Ample time has been built in for socializing, and the evening has been kept free for those who wish to gather in small groups for dinner.

The Alumni Association will help underwrite part of the cost of the reunion through their reunion budget line. Dental Hygiene alumni will receive a final schedule with registration information in late August. For more information, call the Alumni Office at (607) 771-5006.

New Computer Studies Dept. Growing

By MARY DIEGERT
Chairperson, Computer Studies Dept.

We're the newest technical department on campus, and we're growing. We began our degree programs in 1980, and in 1982 our first graduating class had 71 members. This May we graduated 108.

Our degree programs are in Computer Science, which is designed to prepare students to transfer to 4-year colleges to earn baccalaureate degrees, and Data Processing and Computer Technology, which prepare graduates for immediate employment.

Each year we've placed a few students in Co-op positions with local business and industry. With the help of a summer grant, we're planning to extend this valuable opportunity to many more.

The College purchased a VAX/750 computer this year for academic use. It is up and running with an ADA compiler from Telesoft. Microcomputer use is exploding, and we added a second laboratory this year. Each lab is equipped with 10 IBM PC's.

Now, in addition to learning assembly language and interfacing, students use application packages such as word processing, spread sheets, and data base management in a new course called "Small System Applications."

We moved our advanced Pascal course from the mainframe to the micros using Turbo Pascal. The students produced very professional looking final group projects using graphics, help screens and menus.

Faculty interest in micros is exploding also. Richard Stoner, an English Department faculty member, experimented this year with word processing hoping to encourage better writing through easier revision.

This very successful experiment is now being extended through grants to the summer and to next year when the English Department hopes to equip a third IBM-PC Writing Lab.

The Math Department will use the labs next year for class experiments in MAT 113 Math A Liberal Art.

The Medical Assistant students will learn to use the PC to keep doctors' appointment schedules and patient records.

Our student chapter of the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) visited Boston earlier this year with faculty adviser Tim Meyer. The students watched Honeywell manufacturing circuit boards, saw how DEC (Digital Equipment Corp.) makes silicon chips (from sand to circuits), and visited the new Computer Museum downtown.

A student chapter of the Data Processing Managers Association (DPMA) was organized under faculty adviser JoAnne O'Donnell. Its most recent adventure was a visit to the Raymond Corp. in Greene, where the students saw computers used throughout the plant.

By day the microcomputer labs are busy with credit course work, but evening finds at least one lab totally devoted to non-credit mini-courses. Here the community at large has a change to experiment.

The most popular course is Introduction to the IBM-PC. If you live in the area consider a mini-course. No experience is necessary.

Carrigg BCC Rep In 'Million' Celebration

Graduation at Broome Community College was an interesting numbers game this year. Take note:

There was a record total of 1,158 BCC graduates.

This brought the college's total number of degree recipients over the 20,000 mark since the first graduating class in 1949.

This also helped to bring the State University of New York (SUNY) total over the one million mark. Hence every BCC graduate this year—and through all the years—is now truly "one in a million."

James Carrigg, who is surely one of BCC's most illustrious graduates, represented the college's more than 20,000 alumni at the commencement exercises and emphasized the remarkable and significant nature of one-million number.

He noted that 80% of the SUNY alumni have remained in New York State and that 70% of BCC's alumni have stayed in Broome County—to the benefit of both the state and the county.

Bringing the million total closer to home, he revealed that 15 close relatives have benefitted from SUNY education, including a son, daughter, brother, daughter-in-law, nieces and nephews.

"In fact, I have two nephews and my daughter-in-law's brother in the graduating class here tonight."

And he quoted a key portion of Governor Mario Cuomo's proclamation on SUNY's millionth graduate:

"SUNY's historic accomplishment will mean that one million men and women representing different races, nationalities, religions, cultures and incomes will have received educations that help them to live more constructive, contributory and satisfying lives."

... What's New!

also be offered as an evening program this fall.

The Executive Secretary program is still offered, along with Office Services Assistant for the Associate in Applied Science degree, and the General Office Certificate Program.

Over the past year, the department has developed an internship program locally with a major corporation. This program allows selected students (chosen on the basis of grade-point average, departmental approval and corporate interviews) to participate in a full-time working experience for six months.

The Cooperative Education work program in the Business Department has been functioning for the last half dozen or so years, and it allows students to gain valuable work experience in their field of study, while still earning college credit toward their associate degrees.

Both the internship and cooperative education programs have proven to be valuable additions to the division's service to its students.

Spring Sports

The women's softball team finished up with 13 victories and 10 losses by winning 8 of its last 10 regular-season games to earn a spot in the regional tournament.

The men's tennis team won its last three matches to be invited to the regional tournament, which it entered with an 8-6 mark.

BCC Placement Office Cited For Excellence

The Placement Office at Broome Community College has been cited for "Excellence" in its programming methods, with the citation coming from the Career Development Organization of the State University of New York (SUNY).

The computerized employer file was the feature of the Placement Office's programming that was noted, when the citation was awarded at last month's annual meeting of the SUNY Career Development Organization in Plattsburgh.

Anne Scott is the director of the BCC Placement Office.

Get-Together 20 Years Later

Six young ladies who graduated from BCC in the Medical Assistant curriculum in 1965 had an informal reunion last month, with the help, assistance and sociability of faculty members Mary Schum and Teressa Buran.

They are Barbara (Knights) Gardner, Barbara Green, Shirley (Kolba) Michno, Janice (Moss) Smith, Mary Ann Vunk and Gwen (Lee) Spaulding, with their maiden names in parentheses.

They had the reunion as a luncheon at the Spot Restaurant, near the BCC campus. They then toured the campus along with Mary Schum and Teressa Buran. They enjoyed it so much that they plan another one and hope to have more of their classmates and curriculum-mates attend, according to Ms. Schum.

The Medical Assistant curriculum has been renamed since the Class of 1965 graduated. At that time, it was called the Medical Office Assistant program, but the word "Office" was dropped a few years ago.

BCC Golfers Win 3d Region Title in Row

Baseball Team Finishes with 26-6 Record

The Broome Community College golf team again proved its invincibility in Region 3 by capturing the regional title for the third year in success this spring.

Unfortunately, the baseball Hornets—who carried a 24-4 record into the regional tournament—lost to Onondaga CC in the finals and finished the season with 26 wins and 6 losses.

Coach Wayne Lockwood's golfers had great team balance and depth as they won five mini-tournament during the season, placed second in the other one, and won the sub-regional and regional tournaments.

Bernie Herceg was the top performer, as he was the regional individual champion, led the team in more tournaments than any of his teammates, and averaged 75 strokes per round.

Ike Lovelass, Roger Richardson, Kevin Savage and Joe Kodey qualified for the National Championships in Florida—along with Herceg—and all five averaged in the 70's for each round of competition during the season. They missed the team cut in Florida by only six strokes—the Hornets' best showing ever in the national competition. Roger Curran and Ed Maylock also played well during the season.

All but Kodey are seniors, so coach Lockwood is still thinking more about this year than he is about next.

Catcher Mike DiRienzo led the Hornets at bat in baseball, hitting .435, with shortstop Mike Carr batting .412 and first baseman Ron Furman .370. All three made first team all-regional, and Carr set a school record for stolen bases with 39 in 32 games. Di Rienzo also was named to the All-District team and received National All-America honorable mention.

DiRienzo was the runs-batted-in leader with 30 in 32 games, with Carr's 26, outfielder Rob Monaco's 24, outfielder Dennis Smith's 23 and Furman's 21 also supplying offensive power. All of the team's non-pitchers batted over .300 to post a team average of .368.

Shawn Rumsey, Larry King, Mark Marris and Chris Rezmerski led the pitchers for coach Dave Michalak with a combined won-lost record of 19-2. Rumsey was 5-1 with an earned run average of 1.83, King was 4-0 with a 2.23 ERA, Marris 5-0 with a 3.08 ERA, and Rezmerski 5-1 with a 3.95 ERA.

Stuart Elliott to Coach Women's Basketball

Stuart W. Elliott, who has coached Windsor Junior High School basketball teams to 84 victories and 12 defeats in the last three years, has been named to coach the women's basketball team at Broome Community College. He will continue his full-time duties as a social studies teacher at the Windsor Junior-Senior High School.

Elliott succeeds Wes Van Dunk, who has coached the BCC women's team for the last four seasons. He will continue to coach the BCC women's softball team and direct the Educational Opportunity Program (EOP) at the college.

Elliott coached the Windsor Junior High School women's basketball team for the last three seasons, posting a won-lost record of 73-9. He also handled the junior high school boys team last season and led them to an 11-3 record.

BCC Develops Tradition of Outstanding Catchers

Baseball teams at Broome Community College have developed a winning tradition through the years, and that history of success may well have depended on a long line of outstanding catchers.

It seems to have started in the coaching years of Ed Daub, and it has continued with coach Dave Michalak in his six years at the helm of the baseball Hornets.

These are the outstanding names since 1967—chronologically listed without any intention of ranking them:

Joe Young
Chuck Quick
Mark Rogers
Joe Hein
Jeff Beckwith
Steve Fessenden
Joe Gebo
Doug Bulman
Mike DiRienzo

These nine catchers have blessed the Hornets with top-notch catching for 16 of the last 19 years.

"The catcher is an extraordinarily important position on a baseball team," says Daub, who coached the Hornets for 15 years before stepping down after the 1979 season with a record of 219 victories and 106 losses for a .674 percentage of success.

"That's why I made the position a key recruiting target. And when I couldn't attract a good catcher, I sometimes resorted to converting one of my players, as I did with Mark Rogers."

The ability to handle pitchers well, taking charge and becoming a team leader, throwing out opposing base runners, and of course hitting are the criteria used for rating these catchers highly.

Joe Young caught in 1967, batted .341 and was a first-team Regional choice. He only played for one years, when the Hornets lost in 13 innings in the final game of the Regional Championship.

Chuck Quick did not have outstanding statistics, but he was a good all-around player who sparked the teams he played on in 1969 and in 1970.

Mark Rogers was a superb hitter, batting .452 i 1972 and .403 in 1973, and he was a first team regional selection in his senior year.

The two teams that Joe Hein caught for in 1974 and 1975 won 41 games and lost only eight in those two years. He batted .365 in his senior year and was chosen on the All-Regional first teaim in both seasons.

Jeff Beckwith sparked the Hornets to a two-year record of 41-16 in 1976 and 1977, as he was an All-Regional second team choice in his senior year.

Steve Fessenden was the Hornets' Most Valuable Player in 1979 and led the club to a 33-17 two-yar record and into the Regional Championship final game in one of those seasons.

The above all caught for Daub-coached teams. His successor, Dave Michalak, has enjoyed having the catching talents of Bego, Bulman and DiRienzo.

Gebo and DiReinzo earned All-America Junior College honorable mention, in addition to All-Regional recognition, and they were given scholarships to four-year colleges—to Trenton State and to the University of Jacksonville in Florida, respectively.

DiRienzo was drafted by the Baltimore Orioles organization, even before he hit .435 in his senior year this spring. But he turned down the Baltimore offers to continue his education at Jacksonville.

Bulman was an All-Regional first team choice who batted over .400 most of the season, as he led the Hornets to coach Michalak's only regional championship in 1983. He had used up his eligibility then, because he had played a year at Canisius in 1982.

Good catching has certainly caught on at BCC, and Michalak hopes it will somehow be contagious again next year.

Troicke, Saeger Retire from BCC Faculty

Two long-standing faculty members announced their retirements after the Spring Semester—Edward Troicke and Dorathy Saeger.

Troicke taught for 22 years in the college's Electrical Engineering Technology Department and Ms. Saeger is a veteran of 21 years of teaching in the Secretarial Sciences Department, whose name was changed a year ago to the Department of Office Technologies.

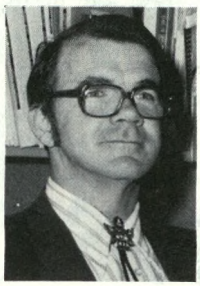
Three BCC faculty members made evaluation trips on behalf of educational agencies during the Spring Semester. Prof. Evelyn Katusak of the Office Technologies Department examined the program offerings of a post-secondary institution in New York City, and Mary Schum, chairperson of the Medical Assistant Department, evaluated that program at Alfred Ag-Tech College. Both were acting on behalf of the NY State Education Department.



Edward Troicke (22 years)

Dorathy Saeger (21 years)

Troicke made an evaluation visit to the United States Naval Air Base in San Diego, representing the American Council of Education to examine the Navy's technical courses being given there.

Construction proceeds busily on the BCC campus this summer, with work moving along on the Applied Technology Building and the addition to the Science Building. The Union, which houses student activities, is expected to be open in time for the Fall Semester, and plans are proceeding to have construction work begin on the extension of the Student Center during the Spring 1986 Semester.

The campus bus stop will be moved in the fall from its position next to the flagpole in front of the Wales Administration Building to the area just north of the Student Center. This should make it easier for students to use the Broome County Transit buses.

2,000 Students Take Summer Coursework

About 2,000 students have enrolled in courses during the current Summer Session. This comes at a time when most people think the college is quiet, but this number shows the college is providing significant educational service to the community even during the so-called off-season.

Most of these students are taking just one course, but some of them double up and take one course per term. The college has three terms during the Summer Session.

Prof. Charles Croll has been recertified by the National Academy of Certified Clinical Mental Health Therapists. That body is the certification arm of the American Mental Health Counselors Association.

What's New in BCC's Business Division!!!

By WILLIAM DAVENPORT
Dean, Business & Office Technologies

The BCC Departments of Business and of Office Technologies have many things in common, although they have different academic and occupational objectives.

Both are in the same division, both will have new chairpersons for the Fall Semester, and both are now offering off-campus work experiences for their students.

Richard Behr will succeed James Abbott as chairman of the Business Department, and Eugene Giovannini was about to complete the formal arrangements to become chairman of the Department of Office Technologies, when this issue of the BCC NEWSLETTER went to press. Behr has been on the Business faculty at BCC for seven years, while Giovannini comes from Eastern Shore Community College in Virginia.

The Business Department is also about to add a new program in Travel and Tourism, and it will reinstate its Real Estate degree emphasis—to go along with its offerings in Business Administration, Accounting (and Banking Emphasis), Management, and Marketing.

Over the past two years, the department has acquired IBM-PC's for integration into a large number of its courses. The computer applications have been used in Accounting courses, Marketing Seminar, Report Writing, and Decision Making. Plans for the coming semester are to integrate the computers into Cost and Intermediate Accounting, Marketing and numerous other courses as software becomes available.

The former Secretarial Sciences Department changed its name last year, when it also changed its emphasis and substituted Word Processing as a degree curriculum for the one in Industrial (Engineering) Secretarial. Word Processing will
